- Cadastre and Land Registry is of value to NMCAs through the central role of geo-referenced land ownership information in spatial data infrastructures;
- the better this information is linked with other land related information, the more efficient land administration and land management, and the more spatially enabled a society and government will be;
- challenge: on the European level, the CLRKEN is only one among several players in the cadastral field → this is an opportunity at the same time

Value of Participation
