PUBLIC TRANSPORT NETWORK IN PARIS: METRO AND R.E.R.

www.parisinfo.com

METRO

The metro operates every day including public holidays from around 6 am to 0.30 am, except on Friday & Saturday evenings until 2.15 am.

Trains are less frequent on Sundays and public holidays.

The Paris metro has around 300 stations, their entrances marked by a big yellow “M”, and 16 lines, numbered from 1 to 14, 3 bis and 7 bis.

Each line has two directions, indicated by the terminus station at each end (for example: Balard/Créteil).

For an idea of your journey time, allow an average of 2 min per station and add 5 min for each connection.

A single metro ticket costs €1.30 and can be used for one journey, including all connections.

Tickets can be purchased singly or in a book of 10 (“carnet”) for €13.30, at the ticket offices or vending machines in metro stations, and also in some tobacconists (with the symbol “RATP”).

Your ticket remains valid for 2 hours until you leave the metro by going through the exit barriers.

Keep hold of your ticket until you have completed your journey, as you may be asked to show it if tickets are being inspected.

This ticket, valid for zones 1 and 2, allows you to travel anywhere in Paris, and even beyond, since it will take you to the end of each metro line (as for example Château de Vincennes on line 1).

RER

The RER is an express rail network consisting of 5 lines referred to by the letters A, B, C, D and E.

It operates every day, including public holidays, from around 6am to 0.30am.

It is faster than the metro because stops are less frequent.

Within Paris, the RER operates in more or less the same way as the metro, except that you need to put your ticket through the automatic barriers a second time on the way out.

If your RER station has a connection with the metro, you can use the same ticket for the whole journey.

If you are travelling beyond the city limits, you need to ensure that you are in possession of a ticket which covers your whole journey up to your destination.

Screens on the platforms display the departure times of the next trains.

When travelling outwards to the suburbs, once on the platform, make sure to check that the stop you want is indicated on the electronic destination boards.

PLEASE NOTE THAT SMOKING IS FORBIDDEN IN THE ENTIRE PARIS AND SUBURBAN TRANSPORT NETWORK.
